

Working together policy-staff relations difficulty, bullying/sexual harassment and grievance procedures

Revised By: Mary-T Minehane (Principal)

Rationale

Objectives of the policy

- To raise awareness among school staffs about the importance of fostering positive working relations with one's colleagues;
- To recommend guidelines for good practice, and
- To set out various procedures to address staff relations difficulties, adult bullying or harassment and grievances.

The policy and procedures in this document will be monitored and reviewed from time to time, to ensure satisfactory operation.

Recommended good practice

The following key practices have been identified as being very important in the promotion of positive working relations. The presence or absence of these practices within the school can determine the school climate and culture and the dynamics of working relations among staff.

Internal communication

Regular, transparent, open and direct communication should be encouraged. As part of that process, staff may wish to raise issues, as appropriate, with each other or with the Principal/Staff Member/management. Each party should be open to hearing and addressing counter viewpoints and to responding in a constructive manner to any matters raised. There should be regular staff meetings (ie at least one per term), where staff are fully aware of the agenda in advance and given an opportunity to submit items for discussion. There should be clarity about the issues discussed, the decisions taken and the agreed follow-up action. At the following staff meeting, minutes should be adopted and a report given, on follow up action.

Processes of decision making

A hallmark of positive staff working relations is the manner by which decisions are made within the school. Each staff should consider, discuss and if appropriate, review its processes of decision making. In some instances decisions will be relatively automatic, particularly if governed by clearly established rules and regulations, while in other cases, decisions may be made on the basis of existing custom and practice. Alternatively and increasingly, staff are called upon to make decisions on the basis of consultation and consensus within the school community. This is particularly the case in drafting school policies, eg discipline, home/school links, RSE, etc.

Caheragh National School

The processes of decision making should give due regard to the role of the Principal Teacher and the Board of Management in accordance with DES Circular 16/73 and relevant legislation. In order to foster collaborative decision making, members of staff should be willing to make constructive contributions, to listen and respect each other's viewpoints, to be prepared to be flexible and to compromise if necessary and to uphold the majority decision. Those chairing staff meetings should encourage such open and constructive discussions.

Effective school policies and procedures

All staffs should be aware of and have access to copies of school policies and procedures covering the curricular and administrative areas. Administrative policies cover such areas as dealing with parental complaints (complaints procedure), dealing with parents (home/school links), disciplining pupils, bullying among pupils, supervision, dealing with child abuse ... etc. There should be school policies on a wide variety of administrative matters and these should be implemented fairly and consistently and in an open and transparent manner. It is in the staff's interests also to ensure that such policies and procedures are approved and adopted by the school's Board of Management.

Mutual respect

Each member of staff performs a different role in the school and each is fully entitled to be treated with professional respect and with dignity. The Principal Teacher is both a staff member and a team leader with overall responsibility for the day to day activities in the school. Particular functions and responsibilities may be delegated to the other management personnel in the school, eg deputy principal, assistant principal, SNA's, Behaviour Analyst, Occupational Therapist. As well as being responsible for their individual classes each teacher also has a clear responsibility for the implementation of school policies.

A sense of fairness

Individual staff members should be aware of the importance of demonstrating a sense of fair play, tolerance and goodwill. Exercising sound judgement based on relevant information, common sense and reasonableness are also significant factors in promoting positive staff relations. For example, deciding to compromise on a matter rather than holding steadfast, can often be the wisest and most sensible thing to do.

Unacceptable behaviour

There are certain behaviours which are not acceptable among staff members and which create negative staff relations. Such behaviours include workplace bullying, sexual harassment, rudeness, and aggressiveness, offensive language, threatening or intimidating behaviour, victimisation and harassment. Each member of staff should respect the integrity and dignity of his/her colleagues. Further, in relation to adult bullying and sexual harassment management, the INTO recommend that each Board of Management/school adopt a policy and procedure which would include a clear statement that any such behaviour is not acceptable within the school. A complaint of sexual harassment or bullying may result, following investigation, in disciplinary action (see section c2).

Conflict resolution

Conflict generally arises, where two or more people disagree over issues of organisational substance and/or experience some antagonism towards each other. Principal/Staff Members/management may spend significant amounts of time dealing with conflict situations, either as a third party in trying to resolve matters or as one of the parties to the conflict. In so far as the school as a workplace is concerned, it is important to recognise that: a) over a period of time conflict is inevitable; and b) that it is critical to resolve conflict at the earliest opportunity and before it is allowed to fester. In the vast majority of cases, Staff Members deploy conflict resolution skills, informally, effectively and constructively, such as:

- listening;
- identifying the source of conflict;
- addressing the issue early and in a constructive manner;
- putting forward options for resolution which may include reaching compromises;
- acknowledging if errors have been made and likewise accepting that errors may have been made by another party or that misunderstandings may have occurred;
- accepting solutions whether as a compromise or otherwise;
- closing the matter; and
- moving on.

It is recommended that each staff foster a culture of open communication and debate, where conflict can be aired and dealt with constructively, speedily and in a reasonable manner and, if possible, without recourse to the procedures set out in section c.

Key principles

The Procedures

It is intended that each of the procedures in section c procedures 1-3, will provide an overall framework to resolve matters at the earliest opportunity and preferably, within the school structures. As staff relations issues and instances of bullying or discriminatory harassment, vary significantly from school to school, procedures 1 and 2, in particular, place the emphasis on the general stages which should be followed in order to resolve matters.

However, it is important to note, that the following key principles or procedural points are intrinsic to each procedure:

1. identify the difficulty;
2. observe due process;
3. keep records;
4. set realistic goals and parameters
5. choose the appropriate procedure.

Identify the difficulty

There are similarities in relation to the range of factors which arise in primary schools where there is internal conflict among staff members. The following list comprises issues which have been identified by staffs as the main areas responsible for breakdowns in staff relations:

- bullying, intimidation, victimisation, verbal abuse, sexual harassment or other forms of discriminatory harassment;
- lack of consultation, dialogue and involvement in the processes of decision making;
- unwillingness to engage in consensus decision making;
- lack of decision making;
- indecisiveness;
- unwillingness to co-operate with school policy or operate as team players;
- cliques among staff;
- ongoing expression of disgruntlement by internal school candidates who were unsuccessful in the competition for the principalship or in other internal promotions.
- Other colleagues may also express disgruntlement and this may result in a lack of co-operation with newly promoted post holders/principal;
- a new principal introducing sweeping changes without proper consultation or meaningfully engaging staff in the process of change over realistic time frames;
- members of staff not talking to each other or not engaging in constructive communication;
- personality factors;
- lack of appropriate involvement by the Board of Management;
- insecurity and uncertainty among staff in the absence of the support of effective school policies, for example, in dealing with problematic areas, such as complaints against Staff Members, disruptive pupils.
- perceptions that certain members of staff are favoured by management;
- feelings of being systematically undermined;
- staff members afraid to speak openly.

Caheragh National School

19557H

It should be noted that the above list does not purport to be final or exhaustive as it would be impossible to list every possible cause of conflict.

Observe due process

The principles of due process, natural justice and fairness underpin the three procedures outlined in section c. Accordingly, if issues are raised against a member(s) of staff, he/she is entitled to be fully appraised of the issues concerned and given an adequate opportunity to respond, before any conclusions are drawn. In addition, parties should make clear to each other if they are following a particular procedure and if so, identify the appropriate stage. Where documentation, records or submissions are being relied upon by management or a third party, each party to the dispute or difficulty should have an opportunity to access and respond to such documentation (see “Keep records” below). As appropriate, a Staff Member may be entitled to be accompanied by a friend at meetings with the Board of Management or in the event of a disciplinary hearing, may be entitled to union representation. Neither management nor union representation intends that there would be legal representation at any hearings.

Keep records

Records are useful, particularly, in terms of identifying whether there is a pattern of difficulty or offending behaviour. However, the principles of due process and fairness should apply to the keeping of records, especially in circumstances, where the records are being relied upon by a third party or a Board of Management in making a judgement.

The following guidelines in relation to keeping records should be borne in mind:

- Records should be clear, honest and accurate accounts of all relevant matters, in chronological sequence, including details of offending behaviour, attempted resolutions, meetings, discussions, etc;
- A member(s) of staff, who feels bullied, aggrieved, affected by staff conflict, sexually harassed or otherwise discriminated against in the course of his/her employment, should note/record the pattern of behaviour;
- Records may form the basis of written submissions to the Board of Management or other appropriate third parties;
- In general written records are confidential to the party keeping the record, except in circumstances, where that party seeks to rely on such records or, for example, incorporate all or part of such records into a written submission to the Board of Management or other appropriate third party eg, a tribunal established under the grievance procedure. In these circumstances and in accordance with due process,
- The party must be prepared to treat such records/submission in a transparent manner, in terms of furnishing copies of those records/submission to all of the relevant parties, as outlined in the various procedures; and generally, where formal procedures involve appropriate third parties or the Board of Management, written submissions and/or responses, may be obtained from all relevant parties and copied to all relevant parties.

Caheragh National School

19557H

Set realistic goals and parameters

It is critically important to set goals and expectations within the context of realistic parameters. Unrealistic and unachievable expectations can have the contrary effect of entirely frustrating the process. In that context the following should be borne in mind:

- changing the dynamics of working relations in a school from negative/partly negative to positive is a process which may take a considerable length of time and which will require ongoing effort, compromise, flexibility and constructive interaction by all those involved. Accordingly, it is reasonable to establish a framework for resolution of issues over an agreed and realistic time frame.
- the primary responsibility for promoting positive working relations in a school rests with each individual member of staff. Passivity among staff members may frustrate the promotion of positive working relations.
- since promoting positive working relations is a process which may involve awareness raising and possible behavioural changes, it may be appropriate for members of staff to consult other relevant literature on the dynamics of workplaces, bullying, conflict resolution, the functions of leadership and management etc. and also to attend relevant training courses;
- it is an intrinsic function of effective leadership that management, including the Principal Teacher, should promote positive relations. In particular, where there are relations difficulties in a school, management should support initiatives, including training and facilitation, to deal with matters. In addition, if there is unacceptable behaviour perpetrated by one staff member against another, management may be required to invoke disciplinary action against the Staff Member concerned, subject to the normal principles of due process. It is also the responsibility of management to monitor the initiatives put in place to restore/promote positive working relations.

Choose the appropriate procedure

Having identified the difficulties, the individual member or members of staff concerned, should decide on whether it is feasible and more appropriate to address matters informally between themselves or initiate one of the following procedures which are set out in Section C:

c1 Procedure to Address Staff Relations Difficulties

c2 Procedure to Address Adult Bullying/Sexual Harassment or Harassment on Other Specified Discriminatory Grounds, arising in the workplace or otherwise in the course of employment.

c3 Grievance Procedure

While there are significant parallels between each of the procedures, in that, for example, each provides for:

- directly addressing matters;
- informal and formal stages;
- an emphasis on constructive engagement; and
- an emphasis on early resolution

There are also some key differences, such as:

Procedure 1 places the emphasis on addressing staff relations difficulties in a consensus and voluntary type approach and it includes a mediation facility;

Procedure 2 is specific to the matter of allegations of bullying, sexual harassment or other specific discriminatory harassment, which may occur in the workplace or otherwise in the course of employment; and

Procedure 3 places the emphasis on processing specific grievances, which usually relate to breaches of school rules, policies, procedures or practices and it provides that an independent tribunal may be established, which is empowered to issue a decision that is final and binding on all the parties. In deciding to proceed with any one of the procedures it is advisable that Staff Members and management seek advice.

The procedures

C 1 Procedure to address staff relations difficulties

Stage 1 Informally address matters between the parties

It is open to an individual Staff Member/group of Staff Members/entire staff to raise the matter of internal working relations in the school, particularly, where staff relations difficulties exist. For the purpose of this procedure the Staff Member(s) who raises the matter shall be termed Party A. Party A should raise the matter with the Staff Member(s) it considers to be the source of the difficulty or who is contributing to the difficulty and this may include the Principal Teacher, ie, for the purpose of this procedure, Party B. The manner by which party a decides to raise matters, will to a large extent depend on the issues identified by the party, previous experience and the existing procedure in the school for raising matters. In general, the following steps should be taken:

- party A should identify the areas where staff relations difficulties exist or if applicable, where relations can be improved;
- party A should raise matters at the earliest opportunity directly with party B;
- party B should make every effort to respond in a constructive manner to the issues raised by party A;
- the onus is now on both parties to engage constructively to sort out matters and it would be expected that the parties would be prepared to reach solutions and if appropriate, move their position in order to resolve matters at the earliest opportunity;
- both parties should agree realistic time frames which should not be later than 20 school days by which time a framework for resolution of issues should be agreed;
- the outcome of the discussions should be recorded by the parties in a mutually agreeable manner (c/f section b, pgs 12&13);
- by agreement the 20 school day period may be extended and the parties should take specific note of the new time frames.

Please note that if resolution is not achieved and the Principal Teacher is one of the parties at stage 1, then, where a party wishes to continue, the procedure should, after completion of stage 1, move directly to stage 3 or stage 4.

Role of the Principal Teacher

Where it has not been possible to resolve matters informally and directly between the parties and where the Principal Teacher is not a party to the conflict, the principal should be consulted by both parties as follows:

- the Principal Teacher should be briefed by each party on the discussions which have occurred at the informal stage;
- as part of effective leadership, the Principal Teacher has a role in promoting positive working relations and accordingly should hear the parties and seek to mediate and resolve the staff relations difficulty;
- the Principal should act in a fair and impartial manner and may exercise judgement and make decisions which he/she considers necessary to resolve matters;
- the onus is on both parties, facilitated by the Principal Teacher, to engage constructively to resolve matters and it is expected that the parties would be prepared to reach solutions and, if appropriate, move their position in order to resolve matters at the earliest opportunity;
- where the Principal Teacher deems it prudent and appropriate, he/she may raise the matter at a staff meeting and seek to initiate a framework through full staff dialogue, to resolve matters.

In these circumstances, it is recommended, that where possible, a neutral member of staff or a member of staff acceptable to both parties, should be selected to chair the staff meeting;

- the outcome of the discussions should be recorded by the parties including the Principal Teacher in a mutually agreeable manner, (c/f section b, pgs 12–13);
- 20 school days are provided to resolve matters at stage 2 and the parties should note the time frames which should only be extended by agreement.

Please note that where resolution is not achieved at stages 1 or 2, it is open to the parties to move to stage 3 or to go directly to stage 4.

External intervention

Where resolution has not been achieved at either stage 1 or stage 2, the parties and/or the Principal Teacher may request the Board of Management to appoint a mediator, agreeable to the parties.

Prior to entering a mediation process, each of the members of staff concerned, will be required to supply the following background information for the attention of the mediator only:

- a written account of the issues involved;
- a written account of the initiatives taken to date to resolve matters, detailing any progress made, together with a general outline of the sequence of dates. Where the Principal Teacher has been involved at stage 2, he/she should also supply an account;
- a list of the outstanding issues and the resolutions sought by the parties; and
- a written and signed undertaking, to the effect, that he/she:
 - will constructively participate in the mediation process;
 - will be flexible in order to achieve resolution; and
 - will abide by and act on the recommendations of the mediator.

The mediator shall:

- review all of the documentation;
- arrange to meet with the parties;
- decide on whether it is possible to achieve a framework for resolution in light of the attitudes of the parties; and
- where the mediator decides to proceed, he/she shall, following the mediation process, draft a conclusion.

The conclusion of the mediator shall solely state whether mediation has either achieved or failed to achieve a framework for resolution. The conclusion of the mediator shall be available to the parties and to the Board of Management.

In addition, if a framework for resolution is agreed between the parties, then a copy of same may be appended to the conclusion.

As a rule, the mediator shall complete his/her work within 20 school days. A joint union representation/ management panel of mediators will be established for the purpose of facilitating independent mediation.

Caheragh National School

19557H

Please note that any expenses involved at this stage will be shared by the parties, ie union representation and the relevant management body, provided that prior sanction for same has been obtained from those parties.

Formally address matters with the Board of Management

Where it has not been possible to agree a framework for resolution at previous stages, the matter should be referred, by the parties, to the Board of Management for investigation.

The referral should be in writing. In addition, the conclusion of the mediator may indicate that the matter should be referred to the Board of Management and in this regard, the mediator's conclusion may itself constitute a referral. Once a Board of Management has received a written referral to investigate a staff relations difficulty, it should, generally, proceed as follows:

- the Board may enquire into the background of the difficulties including obtaining details on the sequence of initiatives taken at previous stages;
- the Board or the Chairperson of the Board may meet the Staff Members individually or collectively and may also request written submissions from the parties, having regard also to the principles of due process (c/f section b, pg 12);
- the Board may request the Principal Teacher to furnish a written submission;
- the Board may afford the parties an opportunity to present their case orally at a Board meeting, in each other's presence;
- following oral presentations the Board of Management may designate the Chairperson to meet with the parties again, separately or jointly, if further clarification is required or to work towards resolution;
- the Board of Management may convene a number of meetings in order to achieve resolution;
- the Board of Management shall act in a fair and impartial manner in order to achieve resolution;
- the Board is entitled to reach conclusions and to request the parties to agree a framework for resolution in which the parties will fully and constructively participate;
- where the parties fail to voluntarily agree a framework for resolution, following a request by the Board of Management, the Board itself is entitled to decide on an appropriate framework for resolution and may, if considered necessary, direct the parties to participate in same;
- the Board of Management should complete its investigation within 20 school days of receipt of the written referral;
- the steps taken at stage 4 should be recorded, reviewed and monitored and the record should be available to the parties.

C2-Procedure to address adult bullying / harassment

The procedure set out below may be initiated in relation to any of the following circumstances, which may occur in the workplace or otherwise in the course of employment:

- adult bullying;
- sexual harassment; or
- harassment on other specified discriminatory grounds which could, in the circumstances, be regarded as offensive, humiliating or intimidating.

Union representatives and management recommend that each Board of Management/school adopt a policy and procedure on bullying, sexual harassment or other harassment on specified discriminatory grounds, which would include a clear statement that any such behaviour is not acceptable within the school. In this regard, it should be noted that a complaint of sexual harassment or bullying may result in disciplinary action. Where a complaint of sexual harassment or bullying is not upheld, no action shall be taken against the complainant provided the allegation was made in good faith. If the complaint was brought maliciously, it should be treated as misconduct and the disciplinary procedure invoked.

The procedure outlined below is specifically designed to address adult bullying, sexual harassment or harassment on other specified discriminatory grounds, in an industrial relations framework.

It is also open to any member who considers that he/she is being discriminated against, to contact his/her CEC District Representative or Union representative head Office with a view to referring a complaint to the Director of Equality Investigations or Labour Court, as the case may be.

Adult bullying

The INTO policy document “Staff Relations: a report on adult bullying in schools” relies on the definition that bullying is “repeated aggressive behaviour of a verbal, physical or psychological nature”. The document presents a range of other definitions in use by various unions and organisations and also describes the forms and effects of bullying and profiles both the typical victim and bully.

Adult bullying can take many different forms which usually include:

- intimidation or harassment;
- aggression;
- verbal abuse;
- humiliation;
- undermining;
- dominance or abuse of power;
- different or unfavourable treatment;
- exclusion or isolation.

Key features of adult bullying are that the behaviour is generally:

- persistent and/or systematic;
- unwanted;
- subtle; and
- non-physical.

Caheragh National School

19557H

However, for the purposes of the procedures outlined in this document, management have adopted the definition of bullying set out by the Health and Safety Authority which is:

“Bullying in the workplace is repeated aggression, verbal, psychological or physical, conducted by an individual or group against another person or persons. Bullying is where aggression or cruelty, viciousness, intimidation or a need to humiliate, dominate the relationships. Isolated incidents of aggressive behaviour, while to be condemned, should not be described as bullying. In the workplace environment there can be conflicts and interpersonal difficulties. Many of these are legitimate industrial relations difficulties which should be dealt with through the appropriate industrial relations channels. Only aggressive behaviour which is systematic and ongoing should be regarded as bullying.”

Accordingly, it is the view of INTO and management, that the exercise of legitimate management functions, in a reasonable and fair manner, does not constitute bullying.

Sexual harassment or other harassment on specified discriminatory

Grounds

The Employment Equality Act (1998) explicitly provides that sexual harassment and other harassment on legally defined discriminatory grounds, is unlawful and constitutes discrimination, contrary to the Employment Act, 1998.

Employers may also be liable under the 1998 legislation, in respect of harassment occurring in the course of employment, whether or not, it occurs with the employer's knowledge or approval. However, the legislation also provides that it shall be a defence for an employer to show that reasonably practicable steps were taken to prevent the harassment.

It is important to distinguish harassment, including sexual harassment, from normal social interaction at work involving mutually acceptable behaviour.

Sexual harassment

It is unlawful to treat a person less favourably than another person on grounds of sex in matters relating to employment, whether in the workplace or otherwise in the course of employment. Sexual harassment creates an unpleasant and intimidating work environment, threatens job security and undermines equality in the workplace. It is a form of discrimination and every effort should be made to eliminate it.

The Employment Equality Act (1998) defines sexual harassment as any unwelcome act, request or conduct, which could reasonably be regarded as sexually or otherwise on the grounds of gender, to be offensive, humiliating or intimidating to the employee in question, such as:

- any act of physical intimacy; or
- any request for sexual favours; or
- any other conduct such as, spoken words, gestures or the production, display or circulation of written words, pictures or other materials.

Caheragh National School

19557H

Discrimination may also arise, if a person is treated differently in the course of his/her employment, by virtue of his/her acceptance or rejection of the sexual harassment.

In September 1994, the Department of Justice, Equality and Law Reform published a Code of Practice on measures to protect the dignity of women and men at work. The Code of Practice was issued in accordance with the European Commission's Code of Practice, which defined sexual harassment as: "unwanted conduct of a sexual nature or other conduct based on sex affecting the dignity of women and men at work".

Other harassment on specified discriminatory grounds

The Employment Equality Act (1998) states that other harassment whether in the workplace or otherwise in the course of employment, may constitute discrimination, contrary to the legislation, in circumstances where:

- the harassment arises from an employee's marital status, family status, sexual orientation, religious beliefs, age, disability, race or membership of the traveller community; and
- the harassment is unwelcome and could reasonably be regarded as offensive, humiliating or intimidating to the employee concerned.

Harassment may constitute any act or conduct, such as, spoken words, gestures or the production, display or circulation of written words, pictures or other material.

Discrimination may also arise, if a person is treated differently in the course of his/her employment, by virtue of his/her acceptance or rejection of the harassment.

Bullying/harassment procedure

Preamble

The procedure outlined below is designed to address adult bullying, sexual harassment or other harassment arising in the workplace or otherwise in the course of employment, in a fair and effective manner. In implementing the procedure, it is recommended that emphasis should be placed on assuring the party who considers that he/she is being bullied/ harassed that his/her complaint is acknowledged, that the matter will be investigated effectively and sensitively and in accordance with due process. Equally, where it is found that bullying or harassment has occurred, the emphasis, firstly, is to ensure that the offending behaviour immediately cease and secondly, to help the offending party acknowledge that his/her behaviour is unacceptable and that steps must be taken to address the matter constructively thereby avoiding any recurrence.

It is important to ensure that resolution is achieved at the earliest opportunity.

Further, it may be appropriate for the victim or the offender to attend counselling or obtain such other help as may be required.

Decide to address the matter

1. The party (party a) who considers that he/she is being bullied, sexually harassed or harassed on other specified discriminatory grounds, should decide to address the matter. However, in light of the potential effects of bullying or harassment on an individual, including loss of confidence, extreme upset, anxiety or fear, party a may initially decide to seek union representation or other assistance, including Employee Assistance Scheme or other counselling, in order to consider the most appropriate application of the procedures, in the circumstances.

2. Party A should keep a record of the pattern of behaviour or instances where he/she considers that bullying/harassment has occurred. The record should contain details such as dates, times, persons present, details of what was said or what occurred.

(Further details on the keeping of records are outlined in section b)

Informally address the problem

The party who considers that he/she is being bullied, sexually harassed or harassed on other discriminatory grounds (party a), should request a meeting with the other party (b), in order to discuss matters. The following should apply:

- where necessary, the meeting may be facilitated by a third party, generally a teaching colleague.
- party a should clearly outline his/her difficulties and should clearly object to the bullying/harassment and request that it stop;
- it is important that party a bear in mind, that the other member of staff may not be aware that his/her behaviour is causing difficulty;
- both parties should seek to resolve their differences and establish a pattern of interaction exclusive of any forms of bullying/harassment;
- party b may respond to party a at that meeting or if requested, should be given an opportunity to consider his/her response, in which case the meeting may be adjourned. Party b should respond in a constructive manner;
- the resolution, as appropriate, may include any of the following, eg, a commitment to cease the particular behaviour, modify the behaviour, plan to eliminate situations where the parties would be in conflict or monitoring. Alternatively, it may emerge as a result of the discussions between the parties, that there may have been a degree of misunderstanding in relation to certain behaviours and the resolution may make provision for compromise or appropriate explanation or acknowledgement.

If there is no satisfactory indication of resolution between the parties, party a should refer the complaint to stage 3, i.e. formal procedures.

Principal Teacher or Chairperson of the Board of Management

1. Stage 3 provides a mechanism for the Principal Teacher to intervene and resolve the matter. However, if the Principal Teacher is one of the parties, the Chairperson of the Board of Management, should then be involved, in an individual capacity, in order to achieve resolution. In circumstances where the Chairperson may also be involved at stage 2, another member of the Board, may be designated to intervene.

2. Party a should advise party b that he/she is proceeding with stage 3.
3. Party a should state his/her complaint in writing and request the Principal Teacher (or Chairperson of the Board of Management, as the case may be) to investigate the matter.
4. The Principal Teacher (or Chairperson of the Board of Management, as the case may be) should:
 - ☐ Obtain background details including details of what occurred at the previous stage;
 - ☐ Consider the pattern of behaviour and the timescale;
 - ☐ Hear the parties and seek to resolve the matter;
 - ☐ Act in a fair and impartial manner and deal with the matter sensitively having regard to the nature of the problem and the principles of due process (c/f pg 1 2);
 - ☐ Exercise judgement and make decisions which he/she considers necessary to resolve matters.
5. The outcome of the discussions should be noted by the parties.
6. The matter should be dealt with confidentially.
7. Where resolution has not been possible and particularly, where there is a likelihood of the offending behaviour continuing, either party or the Principal Teacher (or Chairperson of the Board of Management as the case may be) should refer the matter to the Board of Management in accordance with stage 4 below.

Board of Management

1. It is open to any of the parties or the Principal Teacher (or Chairperson of the Board of Management, as the case may be) to refer the matter to the Board of Management for investigation. The referral should be in writing and dated and should include a copy of the written complaint.
2. The Board of Management should consider the issues and investigate the matter:
3. The Board may enquire into the background of the difficulties including obtaining details on the sequence of initiatives taken at previous stages.
4. The Board or the Chairperson of the Board may meet Staff MEMBER individually or collectively and may also request written submissions from the parties, having regard also to the principles of due process (c/f pg 1 2);
5. The Board may request the Principal Teacher to furnish a written submission;
6. The Board may afford the parties an opportunity to present their case orally at a Board meeting, in each other's presence;
7. Following oral presentations the Board of Management may designate the Chairperson to meet with the parties again, separately or jointly, if further clarification is required or to work towards resolution;
8. The Board of Management may convene a number of meetings in order to achieve resolution;
9. The Board of Management shall act in a fair and impartial manner in order to achieve resolution and shall deal with the matter sensitively, having regard to the nature of the problem.
10. Having considered all matters, the Board of Management should reach a view on the matter not later than 20 school days after receipt of the written request/referral.

11. Where the Board of Management finds that bullying/harassment has not occurred, both parties should be informed accordingly. No action shall be taken against the complainant provided the allegation was made in good faith. If the complaint was brought maliciously, it should be treated as misconduct and appropriate action taken.
12. Where the Board of Management finds that bullying/harassment has occurred, the Board should deal with the matter appropriately and effectively. This may include:
 - the issuing of a clear warning that bullying/harassment is not acceptable in the school workplace and that it will not be tolerated;
 - a demand that all forms of bullying/harassment cease and that acceptable patterns of interaction be established between the parties;
 - an instruction to the offending party that he/she apologise/ express regret or give an assurance that the bullying/harassment behaviour will cease;
 - seeking a commitment to attend counselling or the welfare service;
 - more serious disciplinary sanctions as may be commensurate and appropriate, such as:
 - ☐ oral warning
 - ☐ written reprimand
 - ☐ written warning
 - ☐ final written warning
 - ☐ suspension
 - ☐ dismissal
13. 6 As part of any resolution, the Board of Management should monitor the situation and should put systems in place to ensure that it is kept informed that resolutions are being implemented. The Board of Management should keep matters under review.

C3 Grievance procedure

The following procedure for handling grievances in schools has been agreed between the INTO and the principal management bodies. The purpose of this procedure is to provide a mechanism for the resolution of a grievance which a Staff Member in a national school, including a Principal Teacher, has against:

1. The Board of Management in respect of the exercise of any of its responsibilities for the governance of the school; or
2. The Chairperson of the Board in an individual capacity; or
3. The Principal Teacher in respect of his/her duties and responsibilities for the organisation, conduct and day to day activities of the school.
